

We aim to provide quality service and repair services in accordance with international standards in the maritime sector, in the Netherlands and around the world.

To carry out activities that will minimize dependence in the repair and maintenance service work that we will do and to ensure customer satisfaction in procurement and we plan to serve non-manufactured imported materials all over the world, especially in the Netherlands.

As NRC Marine, it is our most important goal to keep the quality of service that our customers will receive at the highest level. Another service we offer to our customers is after-sales support.

Shipping on our environment and our quality service in the beginning that arise with every attempt to contribute to the development of our employees, customers, technology and tradition-based approach as we'll support the development of electronics by modernizing with age-appropriate.
